

For or against tipping?

Personally I don't like ~~the~~ tips because I think ~~the~~ tipping should be a choice not an imposition.

Of course I think that good behavior and good service should be rewarded with a tip but a mediocre service in no way deserves a tip.

Luckily, in Spain the tip isn't obligatory, you can decide if you leave a tip or not, but in other countries like United States tipping is an obligation

I understand that the tip can be an incentive for the waiters but customers are always right.
